A CHAP writing from California to an Eastern paper, remarks follows in regard to Time's changes in the mines:

be successful. Never for.

The old mining camps, where fortunes were made in a few days in early times, are as quiet now as graveyards. Riding through them, one sees the earth torn up and disfigured; deserted shafts and tunnels yawn in all directions; humble cabins, within whose walls the weary miner used to play " old sledge" and "poker," and dream of golden nuggets and loved ones at home, are standing as melancholy and dilapidated aronaments of the past. Verily, those old mining camps are the most lonely. Go forsaken looking places on the earth.

> THE FENIAN MOVEMENT.-The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer writes as follows: If anybody has got it into his head that the Fenian movement doesn't mean anything in reality, but as the London Herald says only "blather," he may as well be undeceived first as last, so far as this country, or rather I should say this city is concerned. As facts are better than speculations in such matters, I can give you some evidence perfectly reliable, which will enable the reader to judge for himself.

Fact First That negotiations are pending for the purchase of eight ocean steamers, each warranted to carry one thousand men, with the certainty almost that the purchase will be made before the 1st of October.

Fact Second. That there have been immense purchases of arms from the Government by parties who are supposwithin the past fortnight, and that propositions for further purchases are now inder consideration.

Note Companies of this city are now engaged in engraving bonds for the new Irish Republic. It matters not who are their employers, but I have no doubt the British Consul and his attaches, know all about it.

THE KILLED AND WOUNDED .- We are indebted to Mr. B. F. Davenport for the following telegram in relation to the loss of life on the steamer Yosemite. Mr. Davenport with commendable spirit telegraphed to the manager of the telegraph office at Sacrimento City for a report of the loss by the explosion on the 12th instant, and within the half hour received this dispatch:

This is the third marriage of both parties. Mrs. Pomeroy is a graduate of Mount Holyoke Female Seminary, and ber first busband, a graduate of Amberst College, was killed by a steamboat explosion while a resident of St. Louis, a short time after their marriage. Her second husband, a Mr. Whiting, of Boston, a wealthy banker, died of apoplexy four months after their marriage. The future progeny of Pomeroys may be termed a "triple extract," as the chemists say.

DEATH OF JUSTIN BONAPARTE .- Joseph Bonaparte, Prince of Musignano, died at Rome on the 5th of September. He was the son of Chas. Lucien Bonaparte, Prince of Canino and Musignano, and of a daughter to Joseph Bonaparte, ex-King of Spain. He was for many years a resident of this country, and known as a learned writer upon American ornithology. Here he published in the Journal of Natural Sciences, a series of articles entitled "Observations on the Nomenclature of Wilson's Ornithology," a work frequently quoted and held as authority. He wrote "A Synopsis of the Birds of the United States" (originally printed in the "Annale of the Lyceum of Natural History, of New York") and a "Catalogue of Birds of the United States," published in the "Contributions of the Maclurian Lyeeum." avantavo

ONE of the greatest, grandest audiences, yet, was out to witness the Irwins in the "American Cousin," at the S. L. Theatre Tuesday night. This capital comedy of the day was put upon the stage in splendid-yea, superior style, with all the auxiliaries of fine appointments, costumes &c., as one would see in but few of the first class houses in the largest cities east. The appearance of Mr. and Mrs. Solden Irwin was greeted with continued applause, causing commotion through parquette and circles, instantaneous almost as that San Francisco earthqueke which the papers tell
